Component Mission

The Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) Deputy Director of Mission Integration (MI) serves as the Director of National Intelligence's (DNI) senior leader for intelligence integration across the IC enterprise. MI is responsible for ensuring customer outcomes by leading advances in collection and analysis that ensure the quality, timeliness, and utility of insights for the nation's decision-makers. Additionally, MI is responsible for increasing expertise and improving tradecraft at all levels through specialization, integration, and collaboration. MI is responsible for the strategic vision, direction, and planning to deliver a more integrated IC reflecting the collective wisdom of our collection and analytic components to advance, in support of the National Intelligence Managers, the Unifying Intelligence Strategies (UIS).

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Lead, manage, and supervise three Division Chiefs and their teams of staff and contracted professionals to further a unifying vision that meets Division-, Group-, Component-, and Directorate-level goals for analysis while providing strategic direction and guiding implementation.

Oversee the ranking and prioritizing of wide ranging competing requirements, taskings and other activities in a very active environment to ensure that all responsibilities for the group are met in a timely fashion.

Foster a culture of excellence by cultivating and mentoring the staff; leveraging best practices and lessons learned; developing expertise; prescribing specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound expectations; providing formal and informal performance evaluations; identifying development opportunities; and recognizing excellence.

Directly and through subordinate leaders assess organizational capability, develop division work plans, oversee work-plan implementation, assure quality completion of assigned tasks, and direct division-level adjustments as necessary.

Manage, oversee, guide, and monitor multiple IC wide governance boards to ensure decisions are made through the appropriate fora and disputes are resolved expeditiously.

Engage and partner with analytical managers across the IC to ascertain their needs, identify clear mission objectives, develop a roadmap for strategic solutions to fill analysis gaps, and craft responses and programs to improve analytical mission management.

Lead and support briefings to senior IC officials and other major stakeholders on analytic collaboration progress, issues and challenges.

Provide voice of analytic mission to analytic tool development at the enterprise level, including search and discovery, collaboration, visualization, AI and other tools necessary for the future work environment.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

Senior or expert critical thinking skills, including the demonstrated ability to think strategically and to lead and execute organizational and/or IC initiatives.

Extensive or expert ability to lead a team of staff and contracted professionals to manage complex issues.

Demonstrated or superior ability to develop and maintain working relationships with other ODNI and IC components and other government agencies to address issues that span multiple mission or program areas and to build coalitions of IC stakeholders.

Extensive or expert knowledge of strategic planning, methods and approaches.

Senior or expert critical thinking skills, including the demonstrated ability to think strategically and to lead and execute organizational and/or IC initiatives.

Demonstrated or superior experience in creating and implementing strategic plans, particularly related to the analytic mission.

Bachelor's degree or equivalent experience as determined by mission specialty area.

Desired Requirements

Familiarity with analytical offices in one or more components of the IC.

Experience working with the National Intelligence Council, National Intelligence Managers, or another IC analytical office.

Ability to work successfully in a dynamic environment, representing changing mission objectives to strategic stakeholders.

Ability to spot, attract, and develop highly qualified talent capable of offering diverse perspectives and views.

Ability to find creative solutions to address operational requirements in a time of constrained resources.
